

Phone Scam

It has come to our attention that a 3rd party is contacting Cottage Life Show exhibitors by phone and asking them to renew and PAY through them. THIS IS A SCAM and NOT affiliated with Cottage Life or Blue Ant Media. We are working with the authorities to investigate. If you have been contacted by this fraudulent party we would appreciate you providing us with any details you can recall.

Companies Offering Attendee Data

Recently we became aware that there are list data providers such as umaxmedia.us claiming to have access to our event attendee lists. We want to assure all of our exhibitors and attendees that we take data protection seriously and have not shared any details with any third party companies. We would also like to warn exhibitors and potential exhibitors that these companies do not have access to the data they are claiming to and would urge extreme caution in dealing with them.

Show Guide, and Housing Groups Cautionary Notice

Cottage Life Media, a division of Blue Ant Media Solutions Inc. does not use or endorse a third party to collect data or exhibitor listing information. Claims by third party entities (often known as fair guides or expo guides) that are not coming from Cottage Life Media, with our 130 Merton St., Toronto address or from an email address with the domain extensions @cottagelife.com, @seasonsshow.com, or @blueantmedia.ca are not official or legitimate requests for your private/business information. Do not sign any documents or respond to inquiries from third parties without carefully reading the entire document including any fine print.
